Let's Start!

Let's head to the home of the Red Sox!

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about people and places in communicative situations.

Ask your partner:

- Do you watch American major league baseball?
- Which is your favorite team?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about sports.
- I can ask for, give and respond to advice.
- I can make and respond to requests.

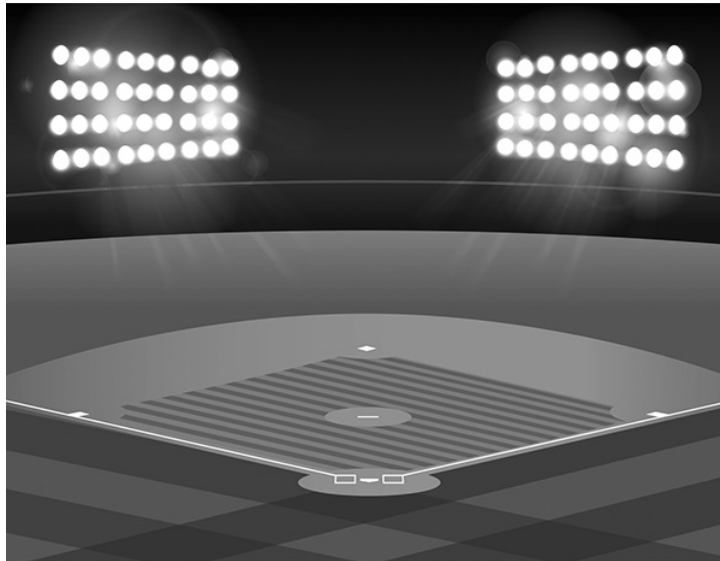

Let's Explore!

Peter and Sally talk about going to a baseball game.

* Modern "baseball" started in America in the early 19th century.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Sally: That was such a big lunch. I need to lose some weight now. What should I do?
- Peter: We should work it off on our bikes.
- Sally: This bike share system is such an innovative idea. Where should we go?
- Peter: Is there any chance you'd be interested in a baseball game? Fenway Park Stadium is famous, and the Toronto Blue Jays are in town.
- Sally: Yeah, I would enjoy that, but isn't that far?
- Peter: Biking there would only take 20 minutes, and it's good exercise.
- Sally: Alright. But would you mind explaining baseball to me? I don't get it.
- Peter: No problem. You hit the ball hard to get a home run and score, but 3 strikes and you're out - it's easy.
- Sally: But how do I sit through 9 innings? And what's a pop fly?
- Peter: Well, after 7 innings, we all stretch. And a pop fly is when a ball goes high up ...

Let's Practice!

What do you think I should do?

Instructions: Draw a line from the first part of the statement on the left to the second part on the right.

- | | |
|-----------------------|-------------------------|
| 1. We should work off | is good exercise. |
| 2. What should I do | driving to the city. |
| 3. Biking there | to lose weight? |
| 4. I don't advise | our lunch on our bikes. |

Let's Practice!

Peter and Sally make requests to each other.

Instructions: Proofread the sentence. Find the incorrect word. Write in the correct word to complete the sentence.

1. Is there any change you'd be interested in a baseball game?
2. Yeah, I should enjoy that.
3. Would you mine explaining baseball to me?
4. No probably.

Target Words

- to lose weight (verb): to decrease your weight
e.g. Sally wants to lose weight after eating a big lunch.
- to work it off (verb): to exercise after a big meal
e.g. Sally and Peter work off the big lunch by bike-riding.
- innovative (adjective): describes something using new and interesting ideas e.g. The bike share system around the city is really innovative.
- to take (amount of time) (verb): the amount of time needed to do something e.g. It takes 30 minutes to get into the city by train.
- strike (noun): when a baseball player misses the ball with his bat e.g. That player now has two strikes.
- pop fly (noun): when the baseball is hit high up in the air but not so far e.g. When that player hits a pop fly, I hope our team catches it.
- inning (noun): a round in a baseball game where one team hits the ball and then after 3 outs the other team hits the ball e.g. We're now at the 9th inning, so it's our last chance to score.

Learning Points

Asking For and Giving Advice

You use the question What should I do? to ask for advice. You can use the modals should and could before the verb to give advice.

For example:

You should try to get an autograph from one of the players.

You could try keeping track of the players in this scorebook.

Examples:

- What should I do to lose weight?
- You should work it off on your bike. It's good exercise.

Making and Responding to Requests

When you make and respond to requests, remember to be polite!

Making Requests	Responding to Requests
Would you ... ?	Sure, I'll ...
I'd like to ...	Sure, I'd be glad to ...
Would you mind (if) ... ?	No, not at all.
Would ... be okay?	Certainly.
I was wondering if ...	Yes, of course.
Could you ... ?	I'll see what I can do.
Do you think you could ... ?	I don't mind at all.
Is there any chance you could ... ?	Of course we can ...
	No problem.

Examples:

- Is there any chance you'd be interested in a baseball game?
- Yeah, I would enjoy that.
- Would you mind explaining the game to me?
- No problem.
